

Published based on High PageRank Blog Commenting Tactic

High PageRank Blog Commenting Tactic

Okay so here's a really easy way to get some high PR, relevant backlinks to your website from blog commenting. So let me show you how to do this. All you have to do is enter in yourname@yourkeywords in quotes. What this does is it searches for blogs that use keywordluv, and blogs that use keywordluv allow you to put your keyword instead of your name to link back to your site. This makes it more relevant. Also, they're usually dofollow and when they're dofollow this means that you get the full SEO benefit from link building with blog commenting because the PageRank that is passed and also the anchor text.

Next, you're gonna put in your keyword here so this could be anything. Maybe you're gardening, you have a blog about gardening or something. Maybe your keyword is gardening tools, it doesn't matter you just put that in like that okay? And now we've got a decent list alright, already of ten different sites that use keywordluv. You can tell because at the bottom it says enter your name at your keywords okay? Now to make this even better what we're gonna do is we're gonna turn on SEOQuake. Now SEO Quake is totally free to use. You can download it for Chrome or Firefox. I'll show you what it does in a second.

Blog Commenting Technique

I'm gonna enable that and the next thing I'm going to do is change my search settings. I'm going to switch this to show 100 results every time. I'm going to save it, and now you can see that I have 100 results here. SEO Quake has shown up and what this is going to do is check some basic metrics for each of the pages including the PageRank of this specific page. Not the actual blog homepage itself, so we're finding pages where your link is actually going to be passing pagerank because that page has PR. This takes a little while for it to load up.

As you can see, we've got a whole list. Some of them are showing up, here's a pagerank 1, here's a pagerank n/a, so that's not great. Here's a zero. this is going to show up and you'll get... most of the time there's going to be a pagerank 1 and twos, sometimes you'll get a PR three, and four or higher, be careful the way you treat it because that's going to be a good link.

The last part here, you're going to click on this arrow and sort Z to A and that's going to put the highest PageRank pages at the top. Now it's not checked yet on all of them so you can just go to another tab and do something else while you're waiting. Once it's done you can sort, it's going to put all the highest pagerank pages to the top. Then you can open them up okay? Just go down to the bottom and leave a comment, and as you can see there are already some people leaving comments here.

See, internet marketing right there. It's a really easy way to get some strong links, you don't need a whole lot.

You can also find this article published on High PageRank Blog Commenting Tactic, and on the tag pages anchor text, keyword, keywordluv, Link, pagerank, search settings.